Vineyard and Production Update
Our dedicated Vineyard and Production team, led by Head Winemaker Chase Vienneau and Assistant Winemaker Eric Ragel, is hard at work preparing for the upcoming 2024 vintage. Despite the challenges, such as early-year pruning and recent winter weather, our vines remain resilient.

In early February, they started the first stage of pruning the vineyards. Pruning grapevines involves cutting away excess branches to promote healthier growth, improve fruit production, and maintain a desired shape. Pruning also delays bud break in April which helps avoid spring frost damage.

We're excited to continue crafting exceptional wines for your enjoyment, experimenting with blending trials and barrel aging processes to ensure each bottle is a true reflection of our commitment to quality.

A Heartfelt Thank You to Our Club Members

Your presence and support made it a truly memorable event. We're grateful for the opportunity to create more cherished moments together this year! See you at the winery soon!
